

regionalintel builds cluster initiatives...

Cluster initiatives are all about connecting local strengths - i.e. people, infrastructure and institutions - in a way that builds export capacity and ultimately job growth.

And, while nobody can understand your community's strengths better than you, the question is whether you have the right tools to build those connections.

We can help you succeed by providing the right level of support, exactly when you need it. Flexibility, simplicity, and sophistication is our secret to helping our partners get the most out of their planning budgets.

The regionalintel network has proven experience in economic development planning, analysis, customized research, international markets, event management, design, branding, and regional economics. Leveraging this combined expertise at exactly the right moment, is how we add value to communities like yours. Visit us online to learn more about our custom solutions.
